

L. E. Froom

to

R. A. Anderson

Aug. 15, 1967.

[excerpt]

I think the wonder is that we made as much progress and did as much to unify on the matter of the Deity of Christ, His sinlessness during the incarnation, the two phases of the atonement, and especially the three categories of doctrine and their positive approach rather than the old-fashioned sledge hammer attack approach.

Well, Questions On Doctrine is a part of history, and history cannot be changed.

[end of excerpt]